REMARKS.

25X1 1. In late April 1953, Unit Khlopov at the army clothing depot in Bernau had left for Vogelsang, taking along all vehicles and guns and leaving only a rear detail of about 100 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets. The construction work for the motor vehicle repair shop and motor vehicle washing installation of Lieutenant Colonel Abrams (fnu) started on 7 May. Construction material had already arrived.¹

2. On 7 May 1953, computations of costs for the AAA barracks installation in Eberswalde had to be prepared. The location of this installation is the second intersection of the road toward Pinow west of the railroad station. The unit quartered there was referred to by the Eberswalde construction office as headquarters AAA unit. [redacted]

25X1 [redacted] the unit possibly was a division headquarters. The costs had to be calculated for the western section of Object No 7 which was a low wooden barracks building that had to be removed and to be reconstructed as a permanent structure and for Object No 8 which was latrine for between 400 to 500 soldiers.²

25X1 1. [redacted] Comment. [redacted] the transfer to the Templin troop training grounds of the unidentified AT artillery brigade of the Fourth Gds Mecz Army which was made in late April and was previously reported. [redacted]

25X1 Lieutenant Colonel Abrams was previously reported [redacted] in conjunction with

25X1 a motor vehicle repair shop of the army clothing depot.

25X1 2. [redacted] Comment. Probably the MEW area which houses the headquarters of the 63d AAA Div (US).
